Success Story

Reaching Our Goal, Changing Lives

We're proud to share an important milestone for our foundation: for the 2025-2026 school year, we selected two student recipients whose dedication to education and community impact deeply align with our mission. Both individuals are pursuing their education with purpose and a clear desire to create positive change in their communities. Supporting students like these is exactly why this foundation exists, and this first step reinforces our commitment to investing in potential, resilience, and long-term impact.

Six Unmet Needs in the Habesha Diaspora — And Why We Must Build for Them Now

The article “Six Unmet Needs in the Habesha Diaspora” highlights critical gaps facing Ethiopian and Eritrean communities living abroad, emphasizing that many challenges remain unaddressed despite strong cultural ties and community presence. It identifies key areas of need, including mental health support amid cultural stigma, generational disconnects between parents and children, and a loss of deeper cultural understanding among younger generations.

The piece also points to the growing need for culturally appropriate elder care and more intentional community-driven solutions. Overall, it calls on members of the diaspora—especially builders, creators, and leaders—to develop culturally rooted platforms, services, and spaces that directly address these gaps and strengthen long-term community well-being.

A Note From Our Foundation

Some forms of support are loud. Others are quiet, consistent, and deeply needed. This month, we're focusing on the small skills and moments that often get overlooked—but make a lasting difference in mental health, learning, and connection.

We hope something here feels useful to you.
